

2010 NAEA Women's Caucus Exhibition:
*Visualizing Social Justice

Call for Artists

The NAEA Women's Caucus is continuing its rich tradition of exhibiting member's works of art at the 2010 NAEA National Convention, Baltimore, Maryland. Artists are called to submit work relevant to the conference theme of social justice. See: <http://www.arteducators.org/news/national-convention/notes>. Artists who will have work selected through a juried process will be invited to speak about their art at the conference and also have their work included in a print exhibition catalogue disseminated at the 2010 NAEA Convention's WC sessions. All submissions with artist statements will be exhibited in the WC online gallery archives at <http://naeawc.net/>.

To submit works of art to be juried, the artist should be a member of the Women's Caucus. To become a Women's Caucus member, see: <http://naeawc.net/membership.html>

Apply to the 2010 NAEA Women's Caucus Exhibition: Visualizing Social Justice, by submitting the following:

1. Send to naeawcgallery@gmail.com your "gmail" email address and name. To create a "gmail" email account, go to <http://mail.google.com/> You will receive an invitation to submit artwork within 1-2 days.
2. In the invitation email, click on the link "Contribute photos to this album". Upload 1-3 jpeg images of 300 dpi resolution to NAEAWCgallery.
3. In the caption area under the image add title, your name, size, media, and date of each artwork, as well as an artist statement discussing the content related to social justice. The text needs to be limited to 150 words (or 1024 characters).

UPLOAD DEADLINE: March 1, 2010

Questions can be directed to: Carrie Nordlund at naeawcgallery@gmail.com